GRAND PRAIRIE, Alta., May 29.—With delegates from every section of Peace River riding in attendance, many of whom had travelled from 150 miles to be present, Joseph McIsaac of Spirit River was nominated as Liberal candidate for the forthcoming election at Spirit River.

Spurred by the provincial government, organized efforts have been made to rid the province of a large number of crows, magpies and gophers. The government is offering cash prizes totaling $2,500, while municipal districts are also offering large prizes.

Whipped racing is getting to be a major sport among the society. The fastest racers of all are the crows, magpies and gophers. The government is offering cash prizes totaling $2,500, while municipal districts are also offering large prizes.

The Railway Has Been Paid For.

When the Dominion Lands Act of 1908 was passed millions of acres of Western land—which had been held in reserve in order that the C. P. R. might select its land grant—were thrown open for settlement. Provision was made that this land might be purchased as pre-emption claims or as second homesteads, by actual settlers residing within specified distance of the quarters desired. In the course of the debate the Minister of the Interior, Hon. J. H. Brown, stated that it was intended that the money derived from this source should be set off against the cost of the Hudson Bay Railway. Hon. George Foster, of the Opposition, agreed that this was a fair arrangement. Under these provisions the Dominion Government has sold lands to the value of more than $42,000,000. That is far more than the Hudson Bay Railway is estimated to cost when completed. In asking for its completion, therefore, the people of Manitoba and Saskatchewan are only asking for something that the West has bought and paid for. That fact is due to get more attention than has yet been paid to it.

Doing Better Than Expected.

Edmonton's four electric utility enterprises turned in a net profit for the last fiscal month of nearly $170,000. Even the street railway pulled through with a loss of only $114.48. The electric light and power, water works, and telephone departments did the rest.

These public bodies were not instituted with a view to making money. They were created at the cost and risk of the property-owning taxpayers, to provide service; and in hope that they would provide better service at lower prices than could be got from companies operating them for dividend purposes.

There is nothing in the records of any of the departments to show that that hope was not fully founded. Edmonton people have been and are better served by these publicly owned enterprises than they would likely be if the plants were owned by private interests; and at costs not out of comparison with those charged elsewhere. It is a matter for congratulation, and for civic pride, that the utilities are doing what they were expected to do and are also earning substantial dividends which go to keep the streets in order and provide other necessities and conveniences of city life. Edmonton made no mistake when it staked its money on this group of public-owned enterprises.

The Searchlight Menace.

The Saskatchewan Legislature at the recent session overhauled the law regulating traffic on the highways. One amendment required that when a car approaches another vehicle at night on the road the driver shall dim his lights. The legislators apparently supposed that all the cars in the province were of the ultra modern design type which carry searchlights and also electric candles in the lanterns. They are getting some information to the contrary now. The correspondence columns of Saskatchewan papers are plentifully sprinkled with letters explaining that most of the cars in use are not thus equipped, but are of the older type, which do not provide searchlights and therefore do not carry dimmers. To comply with the letter of the law the motorists of the province would have to tear out their present lights and install the expensive modern equipment. Which means that the law will not and cannot be generally observed.

Glowing lights are responsible for a high percentage of the night accidents on the highway and for a still higher percentage of mishaps which cannot be properly termed accidents. They land the driver of an approaching car in a term in the lawless sense of location. He cannot tell whether he is in the middle of the road, on the side of the road, or off the road. Lights of such terrific intensity that they can be seen in the dark are a convenience in emergency; but when they happen to be a fog on the wheel they are a positive menace to everyone on the roads. They encourage the kind of a driver to "hit it up" regardless, and there is no use supposing that he will have the decency to dim them when approaching another car. The law tells him to do it. The way to abolish the searchlight menace is to permanently "dim" the searchlight.

Prejudice Versus Sense.

The Herting Government has been trying to adorn the flag poles of South Africa with a flag from which would be excluded any sign or symbol that the Dominion is a part of the British Empire. With the result that the Government seems more likely to come down than its banner is to go up. The popular resentment that has compelled the Ministry to delay the project does credit to the good sense of the people of the Union. South Africa was asked as one of the prizes Germany would pick out of the ruins of the British Empire as a result of the late war. South Africans may thank the rest of the Empire—and the leadership of General Smuts—that they are not now learning the goose step and defiling their hats with a semi-military tyranny. They cannot in reason suppose, if they repudiated membership in the Empire, that Britishers would rally to their rescue, if they are again threatened in like manner.

THE GRUMBLES

I hear the grumbler, fretting and complaining.
It seems in life there is too much of rain.
One mutters that his trade is very slow.
Business is worse than "twas a year ago.

A woman whimpers that the day is long.
The milk has soured and everything is wrong.
Yet those with deepest hurts and heaviest burdens
Smile back at life and bravely play their parts.

The years give laughter, love and friendship true,
Days of delight and nights of quietude;
Yet some remember joys of yesterday.

I hear the grumbler, fretting in a tank
And wonder what it is from life they lack.
That more of splendor could the years bestow
Than God has given for all mankind to know.

Some things are wrong, and here on earth is care,
But how much joy should be a grumbler's share?

SCIENCE

A scientist is not primarily one who knows something, but primarily one who is aware of what he does not know.

It will be found that the ignorant man professes positively an absolute knowledge of things that he cannot possibly understand.

Thousands of people have that God is for three persons, that there is a God, but five signs out of Adam's rib, and that Jesus swayed the whole, notwithstanding that the only one who has any of these things is the man who is not a scientist.

Health Talks

THE SKIN CAN HEAR

People can hear with their skin. Possibly they can also see with their skin. The first of these facts has been proven in scientific fashion by Prof. R. M. Gault of Northwestern University. Books have been written about the second, but it cannot be claimed that the proof is on a scientific basis.

It is the sensory nerves which tell us what is going on in the world about us. The special senses are: sight, hearing, taste and smell. There is another group of sensations, such as muscle sense and balance and a number of others. Then there come the different variations of touch including touch, temperature, and pain.

Theoretically, each of these sensations and the organs connected with them are set apart and have nothing to do with any other sense. As a matter of fact, there is considerable overlapping. Sight, hearing, taste, and smell are sensations which help the other. A part of what we call other affects taste consideration.

We are commonly taught that the sense of certain snakes and scorpions is secreted in poison glands. The belief is correct in the main. But very few tests show that the skin of these poisonous animals contains a small amount of poison. The question which is very highly developed in some organs are apt to be present in some degree in other organs. Prof. Gault conceived the notion that the nerves of the skin could hear to a limited extent. For instance, he has experimented not only to prove that the skin can hear, but to find ways of making use of this discovery. He proved some times ago the basic fact that the skin can hear. What he is now working on is the extent of teaching deaf-mute and blind children.

Erskine Church Has An Envious Record of Faithful Service

Founded in 1908 Growth Has Been Steady—Pastors Have Rendered Useful and Loyal Ministries to Congregation—Choir is an Asset.

Erskine Church has a historic name which goes back to Scotland and its struggle for religious liberty.

Looking over its communion roll one sees how much the name has attracted people of Scotch or Irish Presbyterian persuasion. Short has been its history, for it was only in January, 1908, that the first celebration of the Lord's Supper was observed, with a membership roll of 37.

The first services were held in Norwood School, and then in a tent. It was a real undertaking when under the supervision of Mr. Alexander McSparran, the present structure was put up. Money was scarce, for many of the congregation were working people. But by voluntary labor a great deal was accomplished.

Sunday school started. The first teacher in the church was Rev. C. D. Campbell and P. J. Brown, whose services were valued about six months each.

The first Sunday school was started early in 1908, the superintendent of the early period was Mr. Alexander McSparran.

In the sphere of Sunday school Erskine has probably made its largest contribution to the moral uplift of the community. It has ever been forced with the need of education, and the church has been able to cope with the needs of children who come.

The second attendance of 446 was reached at one time, and completed the opening of a new era in the school. The other boys, among the superintendents during the early years, were Hugh Montgomery, J. A. Clarke and the present superintendent, Frank Scott.

Children's church. Erskine church might well be called a children's church, for so many of the children attend the services, and some have received certificates for attending 40 to 50 Sundays last year. It might safely be said that all of the parents of all the children who attend Sunday school were actively connected with the church. Erskine church would be one of the largest congregations in the city.

Erskine church has been exceedingly fortunate in its women workers. They have Sunday school teachers who have been more than 20 years on duty. These women have also been active in the mission work of the church.

The first Ladies Aid, with Mrs. Foster as president and Mrs. E. E. Erskine as secretary, was organized on January 25, 1910.

In all the expenditures made necessary by church enlargements and the building of the new church, the Ladies Aid have done great service.

Present officers. The present officers are Mrs. W. B. Brown, president; Mrs. J. D. McKinnon, secretary; and Mrs. M. J. Scott, treasurer.

A great training school in missions has been in the mission band under the leadership of Mrs. H. C. Crutcher, and Mrs. E. E. Erskine has been one of the largest contributors to the city.

Fortunate in choice. Erskine church has been exceedingly fortunate in its choice and leadership. The list of its pastors is a long one: John S. Mackay, D. B. Wilson and A. R. Mackay.

REFLECTIONS

Written for the Christian Science Monitor

The quietude of snow-birds in a bush.

I bring to you with early morning light.

And like unto the water's headling.

Does laughter away me as some slowly spirals.

Think on your dreams of holy beyond.

You thrilled with vision of the golden.

Think also on maturing manhood.

You may have comfort of the church's life.

If you have great desire to know him near.

If this year you want close to him.

Find him in the arms of child.

Find him in the arms of child.

Find him in the arms of child.

Find him in the arms of child.

Find him in the arms of child.

Find him in the arms of child.

Find him in the arms of child.

Find him in the arms of child.

De Palma Hopes To Lose Racing Jinx

By DAN THOMAS
SEA Service Writer

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—Three times he has won within his grasp only to have it snatched away. Just once did he cross the line a winner. But Ralph De Palma, 1924 of the speedways, has returned to the track for one more battle with his hard luck jinx.

The smiling Italian will be among those during pilots who line up on the two and a half mile track for the 500-mile Memorial Day speed chase.

It will be De Palma's eleventh start on the Indianapolis course, his initial appearance having been in 1911. Of all the tracks on which he has driven, Ralph has met his greatest misfortune at the Hooper speedway. Yet he is back again, confident that "Ralph Fortune" will smile upon him this year.

Smile Sticks
It was in 1912, the De Palma career, the name of "Hard Luck" Ralph. He was leading the field in 14 miles with less than a mile to go when his motor stalled. Ralph was not to finish. That was a hard blow to the young driver, but he could not dampen his spirit. Now, after the smile which has become famous.

Three years later the work and De Palma has dubbed himself "Ralph Fortune" with a lap and a half, setting a new record of 100 miles in 11 minutes.

Again in 1916 the jinx tried to break the smile. De Palma was all right, but the grin stuck. He was leading the field in 100 miles when he was overtaken by only one lap to go when his car caught fire. Not that after his car caught fire, but he was overtaken by only one lap to go when his car caught fire. Not that after his car caught fire, but he was overtaken by only one lap to go when his car caught fire.

Hard Luck's Pet
Two more years later he found De Palma again on the front of the 500-mile mark. He led the race until he had increased his lead to three laps at 400 miles. Then a wheel came loose and he was out. Twenty minutes were required to change the wheel and Ralph came in fifth.

"Every driver who has seen me will have a new idea because the 500-mile rule goes into the history books. I have won the 500-mile race as good as the 100-mile race. I have won the 500-mile race as good as the 100-mile race. I have won the 500-mile race as good as the 100-mile race.

THE INCREASE
The 1914 automobile dollar is worth $114 today. Not only are the most types of machines sold at twelve or fifteen years ago in the United States, but there are also a greater proportion of low-priced cars on the market.

LIKES HIS CAR
Robert C. Creek, employed by the highway department of the city and county of Denver, Colo., has been driving the same car for almost fifteen years. The car has run over 200,000 miles.

U. S. A. MOTOR NATION
Eighty-one per cent of the world's motor vehicles are owned in the United States. Not only are the majority of the automobiles, but in furnished foreign countries 73,747 vehicles in 1925.

ESSEX

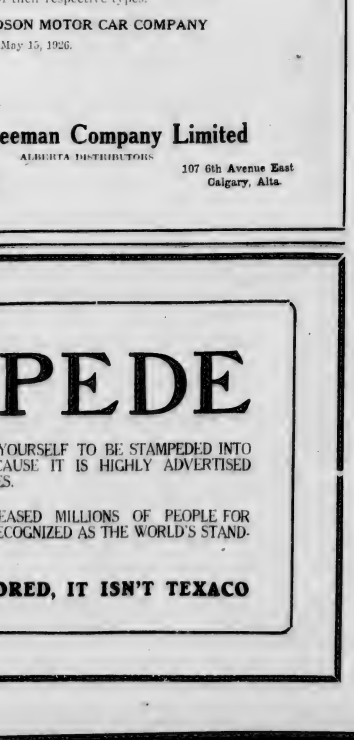

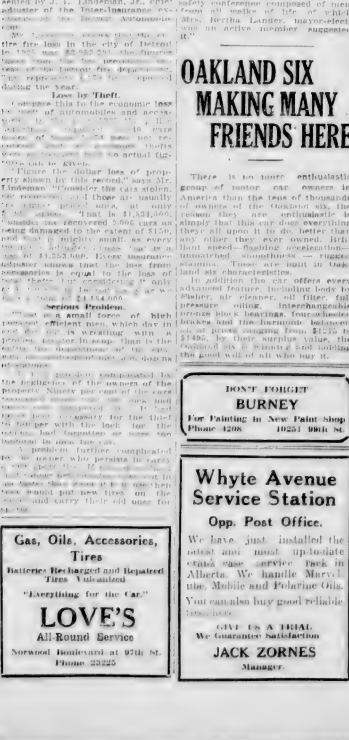

In reply to inquiries from motor buyers, this definite assurance is made to the public:

There is no intention to either discontinue manufacture of the Essex "Six" or to change its name.

Essex is our largest selling car. More than 300,000 are in service. Daily production has just been increased 50%, which will make the May output for the Coach alone greater than the entire Essex May output for last year, the record Essex month.

Production of both the Hudson Super-Six and of the Essex "Six" will be continued with the intent to keep them the outstanding values of their respective types.

Some out of ten ball players show something when they are in uniform and in action on the field. There is an indefinable something about the habit that relieves the tension of the game, and in many cases the chewing of some foreign substance is very necessary.

The special pitcher must chew his spiggy plus to build staff and many batters use licorice or a combination of chewing gum and licorice to make the ball sticky and to get more "stuck" on it when it leaves their fingers.

This habit of universal chewing is not new, as the old ball players have always done.

Young pitcher, kept asking "How" about the old chewing habit for a while of time. This was a very good question.

"That's a bad habit, but it's not," the pitcher said. "I've chewed licorice, but it can't cure my ills."

CHUCKLE MEETING.
A special meeting of the club executive will be held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. Every team at the league should have a representative at the meeting.
